A Strategic Management Simulation

Real Manufacturing Company Management

Students manage a $2-4M manufacturing operation across 3 sales regions, making 30+ strategic decisions per round with real financial dynamics and market competition.

Global Market Perspective

Navigate global market options including EU and China markets, understanding international business dynamics and cross-cultural strategic considerations.

Integrated Decision-Making

Experience integrated strategic thinking across all business functions with immediate feedback on strategic choices and their bottom-line impact.

Experience-Based Learning

Move beyond theory and case studies. Students learn through practice, facing real consequences and managing complex trade-offs in a risk-free environment.

Strategic Mastery Through Immersive Experience.

Where Business Theory Meets Real-World Strategic Practice.

The Strategic Leadership Gap

70% Of new managers fail in their first strategic decisions

The Problem:

- Theory without practice - Students learn concepts but lack application experience
- Disconnected functions - Difficulty understanding cross-functional impact
- No real consequences - Case studies lack the weight of actual business decisions
- Limited strategic experience - Graduates enter workforce unprepared for strategic roles

The Solution: Micromatic™

Experience-based strategic management simulation that bridges the gap between theory and practice:

- Manage a $2-4M manufacturing operation with real financial dynamics
- Make 30+ integrated strategic decisions per round across all business functions
- Navigate 3 sales regions with global market options (EU/China expansion)
- Receive immediate feedback showing how every decision impacts the bottom line
